How It Works

Verification is complicated. Verifi1 has simplified the process.

Our comprehensive 4-step approach - as illustrated below for our flagship dependent eligibility verification service - ensures success from beginning to end.

Establish Eligibility Rules

Use Summary Plan Description (SPD) information to establish eligibility rules and determine what types of documents are required to verify dependent eligibility.

Manage Employee Communications Process

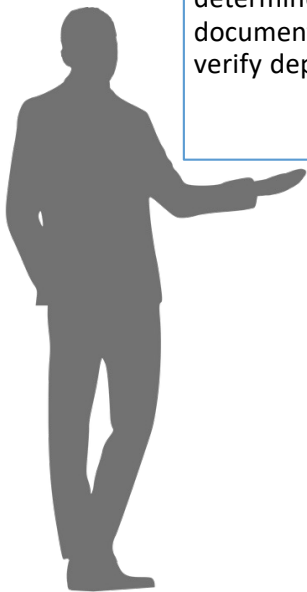

Communication is vital to employee participation in dependent eligibility verification. We create customized communication campaigns based on each company's specific needs and culture. Our outreach to employees consists of notification, education, reminder, and results interactions throughout the initiative coupled with easy access to a state-of-the-art web portal.

Collect, Process & Verify Documents

Manage collection of documents for the verification process to make it easy for employees to submit via scan, upload, fax, and mail. Our automated system - backed with the most advanced OCR technology and further supported by highly skilled auditors - then processes scanned data and verifies eligibility as set by your eligibility rules.

Conduct Ongoing Verification

Dependent eligibility verification is an ongoing issue. The percentage of new hires with ineligible dependents often times exceeds what transpired with the initial employee screening, so we suggest conducting ongoing dependent eligibility verification on a regular basis. We conduct verification reviews for all new hires, as well as employees who have made a change to their dependent status during the previous enrollment year.
